

FUN FACT

LONDON

Did you know that the word barbarian was coined 2,000 years ago by the Romans, who were always clean shaven, looking down on people who had beards? At that time London, which was originally built by the Romans, was called Londinium. People from many different traditions have always lived here and it has always been a busy multicultural city.

